“Glenn Ligon” Dlui, La Repubblica, 30th March 2015

English Translation:
Glenn Ligon Artist, 55

He is a very beloved artist, and not just by us. Even Barack Obama is thrilled by him, he recently asked a museum in Washington to borrow Black Like Me N2 to hang it in the White House. Jennifer Aniston bought Stranger #44 for 450,000 US dollars at a charity auction. Both paintings are in black and white with phrases about black people in the US or gay rights. Glenn, born in the Bronx, says: “My art is not about politics, I just want to give a democratic look to what I do”.
